CAUGHT IN CITY'S 4TH HOLD-UP

TUG SAVES 17 FROM SINKING BRITISH SHIP

'Lost' Crew Taken Aboard Boat as Freighter Founders Off Haiti Coast.

HOLE RIPPED IN HULL

18 Others Rescued Before Crippled Craft Sunk In Stormy Seas.

MIAMI, Fla —(U.P.)—A skeleton crew of 17 men was rescued when the British freighter Nollington Court foundered off the northwest coast of Hati, according to a relay of radio messages intercepted today by tropical radio.

The balance of the crew, numbering 18 men, previously had been rescued by the SS Chagres after the Nollington Court ripped a hole in her hull on a submerged obstacle.

Tells of Rescue.

The messages reported the 17 men aboard the sinking vessel had been rescued by the salvage tug Killereg, which went from Kingston, Jamaica, to the Nollington Court's assistance.

The rescue was reported in a message from the S S City of Manchester, which said the S S Tilapa had advised the 17 seamen, believed lost for more than 30 hours, were safe aboard the salvage tug.

The Chagres' radio operator told the story of the ship's disappearance in these words in his last message to shore stations:

"Don't know what happened to the S. S. Nollington Court. We were standing by when a rain squall came up. He had no lights and disappeared within three hours. We searched for him but did not sighted."

En Route to Liverpool.

The Nollington Court, a 6,097-ton freighter of the United British Steamship company, was en route from Vancouver, B. C., to Liverpool. She had made stops in the West Indies before she struck an object in the channel off Turks island, Bahamas, Tuesday night, and stove in her hull.

Obliterate State Commerce Lines, Ashbrook Urges

Representative William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, O., advocated today obliteration of state lines as they effect commerce, dispatches from Washington said today. Ashbrook represents the 17th Ohio district, which includes Richland county.

"Business," Ashbrook said, "concedes it needs restraints to prevent unfair competition and working conditions, and those restrains can be obtained successfully chiefly through federal cooperation without regard to state lines."

Ashbrook, supporting a movement to force house consideration of the pending administration wage-hour bill, chided business for objecting to such legislation.

"Business men," he said in an interview, "should recall their plight in 1933 when they appealed to the government to bail them out. They must give President Roosevelt credit for generally improved conditions as compared with those at the inception of the New Deal."

Ashbrook said he believed wage-hour legislation would spread employment and help the nation "get away from relief."

JAIL TERRORISTS

Palestine Police Make Arrests After New Bombings.

JERUSALEM—(AP) — Palestine Arabs started a new wave of terrorism today in what police described as retaliation for the death sentence imposed Wednesday on Sheik Farhan Saadi, Holy Land trouble maker.

Six bombs were exployed in the Gaza district. Police arrested a number of suspected terrorists.

$50 IN CASH AND 150 THEATER TICKETS

Turn to Page 30 and learn how you may participate in the "Classified Christmas Gift Contest" in which awards of $50 in cash and 150 theater tickets are being made.

And don't overlook the hundreds of Christmas bargains advertised in "The Gift Headquarters" arranged according to price for your convenience.

It Will Pay You to Check Them!

You've Got a Date on Dec. 18, Mansfielders-- Annual Yule Midnight Show to Aid Needy

HERE'S the announcement you've been waiting for—the annual Muster-Cheer Christmas show.

The date's Dec. 18, and the place is the Ohio theater. As in the past, it will be a midnight show.

So put a big red ring around that date on the calendar, for when you hear all about it, you're going to put the show, sponsored by The News-Journal, American Legion and Warners theaters, at the top of your "must" list.

The show is an annual event sponsored by The News-Journal, the American Legion and Warner Brothers' theater, for the purpose of raising funds to fill several hundred Christmas baskets the day before the holiday.

In the past the Christmas shows have been the highlights of the entertainment season as well as bringing in approximately $1,000 annually for the basket fund.

Two years ago, you may remember, a melodrama was revived, and proved to be a startling success. Last year, the "melo" idea was followed again.

But this year (with apologies to Ed Wynn) the show is going to be different. It'll be as modern as next year's automobiles, and it will be even more fun than the "melos" were. Yep, we're sure of it, but we're

$230,000 TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN YULE SAVINGS

Checks Go Out From 4 Banks Next Week; Total $57,000 More Than Last Year.

Approximately $230,000 in Christmas Savings funds, most of which is expected to flow into holiday shopping channels, will be released to 5,357 Mansfielders next Wednesday, bank officials said today.

In line with increases which have been reflected in other lines of business during the past year, the savings funds this year represent a gain of $57,000 over the $173,000 club members received in December, 1936.

Increases for the city's four banks ranged from $5,000 to $22,000 over last year's figures with the number of savings club members showing a corresponding increase.

Released At Same Time.

The holiday funds, which have accumulated through weekly deposits since last November, will be released at the same time.

Depositors will receive their funds in checks mailed to them from the four banks conducting the clubs. The institutions are the Citizens National Bank and Trust company, and the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank.

The building of new clubs for 1938 is already under way, the banks said, with the first deposits on next year's savings accounts being received this week.

Amounts of the various paid-up accounts range from $12.50 to $500, requiring weekly deposits of from 25 cents to $10 over a period of 50 weeks.

FLEE BLAZE

17 Mothers and Babies Moved From Cleveland Hospital.

CLEVELAND—(UP)—Seventeen women patients, all with new born babies, had to be removed from St. Ann's Maternity hospital when the central building caught fire today.

All downtown fire companies and all police ambulances were ordered to the two-alarm fire.

Fourteen of the mothers were carried from the burning building through dense smoke. The other three walked out.

Seventeen babies, all less than two weeks old, were moved to the front part of the brick building of the hospital group when firemen decided the nursery was in danger.

FIND NEW ROSS RANSOM BILL

Searchers Spur Hunt For Kidnapers In Northern Illinois.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Discovery that a $10 bill passed recently in northern Illinois was part of the $50,000 ransom paid in vain for the return of Charles S. Ross gave fresh impetus today to the search for the abductors of the 72-year-old retired Chicago manufacturer.

It was the sixth ransom bill to make its appearance since the kidnaping two months ago. The others were uncovered in two loop stores, and in the vicinity of the far south side of the city.

D. M. Ladd, head of the Chicago office of the bureau of investigation declined comment on the latest clue.

Bergen, a Northwestern graduate, said they would go to Evanston for the presentation.

4 HURT HERE IN HOLIDAY TRAFFIC

Upper Sandusky Doctor Suffers Broken Back, Mother-In-Law Skull Fracture.

The Richland county area escaped without a traffic fatality over the Thanksgiving holiday which brought death to 20 persons in Ohio, but at least four persons were injured, two seriously, in two automobile mishaps near Mansfield.

Dr. B. A. Maloney, 55, prominent Upper Sandusky physician, and Mrs Philip Kraus, 72, his mother-in-law, also of Upper Sandusky, were in General hospital today, both victims of the same accident.

Dr. Maloney suffered a broken back and Mrs. Kraus has a skull fracture and lacerations about the head. Miss Jane Maloney, 21, dughter of Dr. Maloney, suffered cuts on her head in the crash, but was not admitted to the hospital. Philip Kraus, 73, also an occupant of the car, was not injured.

Enroute to Mansfield to spend the holiday with Mrs. Briley Milum, 18 Granite street, the three members of the same family were injured shortly after noon yesterday when their car was struck by another driven by Mrs. Loa Fisher, 54, of Bellville on route 30-N three miles west of the city.

New Yule Feature

A visit to Santa Claus with Paul and Jane is in store for Mansfield kiddies who follow a daily comic strip series, the first of which appears in today's News-Journal on Page 17.

How Paul figured out a way for himself and Jane to reach Santa Claus; how Santa's mail is handled, and a lot of other interesting things about St. Nick are explained in the series.

HUNTS KILLERS

Detroit Spreads Police Net In Underworld Slaying.

DETROIT — (AP) — A theory pointing to hired assassins "from the outside" forced police into a wide-flung search today for the Thanksgiving day killers of Harry Millman, underworld figure, but clues were sparse.

Save for the finding of a green hat possibly dropped in flight by one of the two gunmen who poured ten bullets into Millman at a cocktail bar early yesterday, detectives admitted little progress in an investigation centering on rackets.

Co-operation of neighboring cities and New York authorities was sought on a cold trail, while police reasoned that the killers, who fled in an automobile bearing New York license plates reported stolen, may have been "imported" by enemies here of Millman.

"They must have been strangers in the city," Chief of Detectives Henry W. Piel said.

March, Movie Star, Happy at Return To Stage 'For Change'

By JANE WILLIAMS

Sitting alone in the front row of the white marble and red velvet auditorium of the Hartman theater at Columbus last night, I saw a great actor and a fine actress go through their paces. It was the dress rehearsal of "Yr. Obedient Husband."

March

Frederic March, distinguished star of screen and stage, and Florence Eldridge, who gave up an established stage career years ago to become Mrs. March, will appear tonight in the world premiere of the play which is bringing them both back to the stage for an interlude in March's screen work.

With them, for the stage adventure, comes John Cromwell of the Hollywood studios, to direct and stage their first play in years. Cromwell only recently made a box office screen hit with his "Prisoner of Zenda." He has made many of the greatest screen hits in motion picture history.

Meeting the two stars last night was a hurried affair between scenes, for both were nervous and tired. March paced up and down the room, while Miss Eldridge relaxed on a davenport. Their costumes were not conducive to complete relaxtion how-

PRESIDENT PUTS TAX REVISION UP TO CONGRESS

Wants Laws Revamped Soon as Lawmakers Are Ready, He Tells Newsmen.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt said today he wanted tax revision as soon as congress was ready to go ahead with it.

As further moves to restore confidence and stimulate industry, the president told his press conference he would send a message to congress Monday recommending legislation to spur private financing of a large scale housing program and another Tuesday proposing curtailment in the annual appropriations for federal aid in road building.

A fourth step, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed, involves a presidential letter to department heads to anticipate federal [illegible] of supplies for the [illegible] seven months by cutting [illegible] and to speed them up instead of spreading them until June 30.

Jokes With Questioner.

Asked if he favored tax revision as an aid to business now, or at the regular session starting in January, the president joked with his questioner and asked if he had been reading the newspapers. Mr. Roosevelt advised reading his message to the special session which he said made very clear that tax revision was desired.

In other words, he added, he wanted tax changes when congress had them ready to be made.

With a smile, however, he said he did not want to fly in the face of critical editorials of the past which warned against undigested legislation—that is the White House just handing in bills to a rubber stamp congress.

He emphasized all legislation should be considered thoroughly.

The reduction in federal aid highway appropriations recalled Secretary Morgenthau's recent speech in which he listed this item as well as relief and farm aids as possible outlays that could be cut to help balance the budget.

PROBE MYSTERY DEATH IN HOTEL

Gotham Police Hunt Clues In Demise Of Ex-Publisher.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Police still sought an explanation today of the mysterious death of Claude H. Kendall, former publisher, more than 24 hours after his battered body was found in a hotel room he occupied alone.

The one time moderately successful publisher of "mystery thrillers" and other writings was last seen entering the hotel at 3:30 a. m. yesterday with a stranger who later disappeared.

About 4 a. m. a couple occupying a room above Kendall's heard a thumping noise. Several hours later a maid found Kendall's body on the floor, his face cut and swollen and a sheet wrapped loosely around his neck.

BABY THRIVES

Infant Born After Mother Died "Getting On Just Fine."

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—(AP)—A baby girl brought into the world a few minutes after the death of her 19-year-old mother, Mrs. Robert E. Helms, was "getting on just fine" today.

The baby weighed three pounds, 12 ounces at birth Tuesday night. The mother, wife of a motor express company employe, died of an acute cardiac condition.

AUTOS BREAK FORD PICKET LINES AGAIN

St. Louis Plant Operates as Strikers Fail to Prevent Production 2nd Time.

POLICE GUARDING GATES

137 Automobiles, Loaded With Employes, Pass Through to Resume Work Schedules.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Striking United Automobile Workers of America, massing a heavy picket line with the aid of other CIO unions, failed today in a second attempt to halt production at the Ford Motor company's St. Louis assembly plant.

The picket line was broken, with little disorder, by automobiles loaded with workers and escorted into the plant by police cars.

Approach Gate.

At dawn, the first motorcade of 30 automobiles approached the main gate, where a police detail watched milling pickets closely. A few stones were thrown.

An hour and a half later, a count made by an Associated Press staff member and four other newsmen showed 474 workers had entered the plant in 137 automobiles. The count showed 353 of the men drove into the grounds in the first hour.

The gate remained heavily policed although the large picket line dwindled as sympathetic union men dropped out to go to their jobs in other industries.

William Kimberling, president of the Ford local, gave the pickets the order of "no profanity in our ranks or agitating toward police."

Union officers remained in secret council until [illegible] after the first pickets took their places. The branch headquarters is equipped with a wellstocked commissary.

BUSES OPERATING

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Greyhound buses moved in and out of terminals under police protection in several cities today as a federal labor conciliator resumed peace efforts between striking union drivers and officials of eight Greyhound lines operating extensively in 16 states.

John J. Conner, labor department conciliator, who flew here from Washington, said he would meet separately again today with company representatives and officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Funeral services were held this morning at the Frank Newville home, 264 East Second street, for William H. Barber, 66, who was killed instantly Wednesday afternoon when struck on the head by a falling tree branch on the George Balliet farm, three miles east of Lucas.

A resident of Mansfield for the past 10 years, Mr. Smith was working with J. L. Cowell, R. D. 1, Mansfield, and Charles Etzwiler, 177 East Fourth street, when a limb from a tree they had completed sawing down crushed his skull as the tree fell to the earth.

Mr. Smith, a native of Wellsville, O., is survived by two sons, Gaylord Barber of Bucyrus, and Emmett Barber, of Detroit, one sister, Mrs. Eva Brigel of Wellsville, and three half-brothers, Frank Newville of Mansfield, with whom he resided, P. SEAL SALE GOAL SET FOR $4,000

Annual Drive to Raise Funds to Fight Tuberculosis Opens In County.

The Christmas health seals — those colorful little stamps that are placed on millions of letters and packages every Christmas season — went on sale today in Mansfield and Richland county.

From now until Christmas the seals, representing pennies spent for the control of tuberculosis, will be in the spotlight. They will reach city and county residents at their home and will be offered for sale a stands in the city.

Proceeds from the sales, which the sponsoring organization hopes will reach $4,000 for a new high mark, will be used to conduct the city and county tuberculosis clinic. Last year the clinic provided for analysis of 223 suspected cases of tuberculosis.

George H of Smith of Mansfield is chairman of the County Health Seal committee which is in charge of the sales this year. The seal campaign in Shelby, independent of the county set-up, is under the direction of Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, vice president of the Richland County Tuberculosis association

This year's seal, showing a town crier with his bell and lantern announcing that "All's well," marks the 31st health sale in the United States. Back in 1907, Miss Emily P. Bissell, of Wilmington, Del., introduced the first seal in her home state

FORMER O.S.R. INMATE PICKED UP NEAR SCENE

Suspect Arrested 10 Minutes After Gas Station Robbery at Noon Today.

QUIZZED IN ISALY HOLD-UP

Thanksgiving Eve Bandits Hold Up 2 A. & P. Stores, Get $141, Cigarets.

Mansfield's fourth hold-up of the week was staged shortly after noon today, but within 10 minutes police had arrested a suspect, a former reformatory inmate, whom they were questioning in the first hold-up of the week—that of the Isaly dairy store at 17 North Franklin avenue Tuesday night.

Today's hold-up took place at the Pure Oil gas station, 341 Rowland avenue, at 12:10 p. m. At 12:30 Capt. Tom Bell and Officer Frend Boals, in a police squad car, arrested the suspect, on whose person they said they found the money stolen from the gas station.

Police had placed no charge against him early this afternoon.

Rob 2 Stores In Half Hour.

The city's second and third armed hold-ups of the week occurred Wednesday night, at the height of the Thanksgiving eve shopping rush when two swarthy armed bandits held up two Atlantic and Pacific Tea company stores within a half hour, escaping with $141 in cash, 61 cartons of cigarets, a quantity of candy, two chickens and a duck—Thanksgiving dinner supplies, possibly.

M. H. Beard, owner of the Pure Oil station, was on duty alone at noon today when the fourth hold-up took place. He told police that the hold-up man came into the station, pulled a gun and demanded "all your cash."

Just at that moment, Beard said, a car drove up and the bandit ordered him to wait on the motorist and then return.

Puts Money In Sack

Beard complied, and when he returned to the station, the bandit forced him to put his money, $9.60, in a paper sack that had contained road maps.

Then the bandit walked away.

Beard immediately called police, and Bell and Boals, in a

PLANE MISSING

Canadian Craft With 11 On Board Believed Grounded.

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont. —(U.P.) —A rift in heavy fog which blanketed portions of Ontario was awaited today by pilots searching for a Sarratt Airways plane, missing for 36 hours with 11 persons aboard.

The plane disappeared Wednesday afternoon on a 120 mile flight between Pickle Lake and Sioux Lookout. Normally the flight required one hour.

The plane was piloted by Ken Smith and carried Keith Gregson, mechanic and nine passengers, said to be members of the Pickle Crow and Central Patricia Gold Mine companies.

Search for the plane was concentrated in the Root Portage area where it was believed the ship might have been forced down by fog.

BABY, 2, GETS FLYING START

Child Already Has 60 Hours In Air; Jappers With Glee Over Next Try.

GREENVILLE, Miss.—(U.P.)—Pudgy, blue-eyed and tow-headed little Iris Monson, 2, jabbers in two languages to make her father take her flying and she already has 60 hours in the air.

She's the daughter of a famous Norwegian parachute jumper and an American pilot, Sidney A. Monson, and combines her vocabularies to coax a "fly."

Monson is proprietor of the Greenville Air Service and Flying School. The baby toddles out to her father's ship and the family conference goes something like this:

"Vil du flyve?" says the mother.

"Wanta fly kid?" inquires Monson.

"Ja! Yes!" the baby cries, delightedly.

She has flown from Miami to Monroe, La., and from Monroe to Houston. She made her first hop when 2 months old and has been all over Texas in the air. Of course she will fly, her parents agree, but she won't be a parachute jumper."

"Aye don' vant her to jump," said the mother, an honorary member of the Woman's International Flying association and veteran of 148 jumps.

Widow or Not?

Although Loretta Harynek, 15-year-old Chicago high school student, claimed she had been secretly married to Warren Stanley, son of a wealthy Chicago manufacturer, when she testified at the coroner's inquest into his suicide, his mother denied the statement. Stanley shot himself while "temporarily insane," supposedly because his sweetheart falsely informed him she was an expectant mother.

JURY INDICTS 5 IN WPA FRAUD

Columbus Indictments Charge Workers With Altering Payrolls on Project.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A secret federal grand jury indictment charging five Works Project administration employes and an automobile dealer with conspiracy to defraud the government on the Mound City State park WPA project in Ross county has been disclosed by U. S. District Attorney Ray J. O'Donnell.

Harvey W. Cutright, WPA general superintendent; William M. Studerman, general foreman, and Roy Sampson, sponsor's representative, were held in Columbus city prison pending arraignment Thursday. John Mossburger, proprietor of a Clarksburg motor sales agency was released under temporary bond of $1,000.

Henry C. Wallenhorst, WPA assistant field engineer, and Jerry Dennis, WPA general superintendent, also were indicted.

The indictment charged unauthorized use of federal gasoline, oil and repair service for privately owned automobiles, and that WPA day laborers were listed fraudulently as truck owners.

The laborers, named in the indictment as co-conspirators but not defendants, received 35 cents an hour under their original classification. As truck owner-drivers, they received from $1.34 to $1.65 an hour. The indictment charges part of the increase was turned over to defendants.

A WPA allocation of $59,803 for the Mound City park project was made Oct. 22, 1935. Work has not been completed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—(U.P.)—The housewife of 1940 may not have to wait until her husband comes home to get final approval of her pies and cakes.

She'll just get out the pressometer and the shortometer to find out for herself (and possibly preclude a few cross remarks) the qualities of her cooking.

Under direction of Alice Child, associate professor of home economics at the University of Minnesota, graduate students are using new mechanical devices for testing culinary qualities of various foods.

Instead of biting into a steak to see whether it is tender or tough the co-eds put a piece of meat into the dynamometer and apply pressure.

MANILA—(U.P.)—The Philippines Commonwealth celebrated its second birthday anniversary with a pocket full of extra cash and clear-cut ideas about how to spend it.

The cash—about $50,000,000—came from the U. S. Treasury in Washington, and represents accumulated excise tax collections on coconut oil sold to the United States, while American courts were deciding whether the tax was constitutional It is about equal to the total annual budget of the Philippines government.

The ideas for spending the sum came from President Manuel L Quezon, who sees more than one-third of the population ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed.

Sugar Levy to Start

Still more revenue is in sight. The coconut oil tax still is being collected for refund to the Commonwealth and a similar levy on sugar exports to the United States is to be collected beginning next year.

But for the present the National Assembly is concentrating on putting the $50,000,000 where it will pay dividends in better conditions for poor folk whose lot has improved less than might be expected in 35 years of American administration.

The assembly is working along "social justice" lines outlined by President Quezon, whose recommendations rarely meet more than 10 per cent opposition in the legislative body

Six Point Program

His principle recommendations were:

1 Improvement of rural sanitation, construction of new sanitariums and leprosariums, and extension of free medical dispensary service to the poor.

2. Construction of more schools to meet an annual problem in which thousands of children are unable to receive instruction.

3. Road building.

4. Purchase of large landed estates for resale to tenants, many of whom are victims of astonishing usury and other malpractices.

5. Development of Mindanao, the richest and least developed of the Philippine Islands.

6 Financing of a "long range program of economic adjustments necessary to prepare the country for the new situation attending the grant of our independence..."

BABY, 2, GETS FLYING START

Child Already Has 60 Hours In Air; Jappers With Glee Over Next Try.

GREENVILLE, Miss.—(U.P.)—Pudgy, blue-eyed and tow-headed little Iris Monson, 2, jabbers in two languages to make her father take her flying and she already has 60 hours in the air.

She's the daughter of a famous Norwegian parachute jumper and an American pilot, Sidney A. Monson, and combines her vocabularies to coax a "fly."

Monson is proprietor of the Greenville Air Service and Flying School. The baby toddles out to her father's ship and the family conference goes something like this:

"Vil du flyve?" says the mother.

"Wanta fly kid?" inquires Monson.

"Ja! Yes!" the baby cries, delightedly.

She has flown from Miami to Monroe, La., and from Monroe to Houston. She made her first hop when 2 months old and has been all over Texas in the air. Of course she will fly, her parents agree, but she won't be a parachute jumper."

"Aye don' vant her to jump," said the mother, an honorary member of the Woman's International Flying association and veteran of 148 jumps.

Widow or Not?

—International Ill. News Photo.

Although Loretta Harynek, 15-year-old Chicago high school student, claimed she had been secretly married to Warren Stanley, son of a wealthy Chicago manufacturer, when she testified at the coroner's inquest into his suicide, his mother denied the statement. Stanley shot himself while "temporarily insane," supposedly because his sweetheart falsely informed him she was an expectant mother.

JURY INDICTS 5 IN WPA FRAUD

Columbus Indictments Charge Workers With Altering Payrolls on Project.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A secret federal grand jury indictment charging five Works Project administration employes and an automobile dealer with conspiracy to defraud the government on the Mound City State park WPA project in Ross county has been disclosed by U. S. District Attorney Ray J. O'Donnell.

Harvey W. Cutright, WPA general superintendent; William M. Studerman, general foreman, and Roy Sampson, sponsor's representative, were held in Columbus city prison pending arraignment Thursday. John Mossburger, proprietor of a Clarksburg motor sales agency was released under temporary bond of $1,000.

Henry C. Wallenhorst, WPA assistant field engineer, and Jerry Dennis, WPA general superintendent, also were indicted.

The indictment charged unauthorized use of federal gasoline, oil and repair service for privately owned automobiles, and that WPA day laborers were listed fraudulently as truck owners.

The laborers, named in the indictment as co-conspirators but not defendants, received 35 cents an hour under their original classification. As truck owner-drivers, they received from $1.34 to $1.65 an hour. The indictment charges part of the increase was turned over to defendants.

A WPA allocation of $59,803 for the Mound City park project was made Oct. 22, 1935. Work has not been completed.

TESTS STEAKS

New Gadget Shows Whether Meat's Tough or Tender.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—(U.P.)—The housewife of 1940 may not have to wait until her husband comes home to get final approval of her pies and cakes.

She'll just get out the pressometer and the shortometer to find out for herself (and possibly preclude a few cross remarks) the qualities of her cooking.

Under direction of Alice Child, associate professor of home economics at the University of Minnesota, graduate students are using new mechanical devices for testing culinary qualities of various foods.

Instead of biting into a steak to see whether it is tender or tough the co-eds put a piece of meat into the dynamometer and apply pressure.

MOTHER FACES MURDER COUNT

Accused of Shooting Husband In Quarrel After Son's Hurt In Mishap.

ALEXANDRIA, Va.—(U.P.)—A mother of five children is facing a murder charge today after she allegedly shot and killed her husband in a quarrel over a hit-and-run automobile accident in which her 13-year-old son was injured.

Mrs. Cathleen Hughes, 35, free on $2,500 bail, made arrangements for the funeral of her husband, Carl H. Hughes, 40.

She told authorities that "it was all an accident," that she had produced a revolver "just to scare him" when her husband became violent in his accusations that she was responsible for the accident.

Mrs. Hughes said that her husband blamed her because she had allowed their son Johnny to ride his bicycle on a main highway.

Mrs. Hughes said, according to police, that her husband had been drinking before the quarrel. When she threatened him with the revolver, she told police, Hughes tried to take it away from her. In the struggle the gun was discharged.

Book of the Week

A DELICATE CASE OF MURDER, by Sinclair Gluck. Macmillan Company, N. Y., $2.

Here is an action-mystery somewhat like the Dashiell Hammett mysteries. It is the story of two detectives who know the ropes and have brains.

Copper "Breeze" Brunham finds himself hurled into a mess packed with dynamite when he becomes the champion of Marjorie Farrell—for Marjorie, for some reason, is being trailed by a mug with a cauliflower ear, and other equally unsavory characters out to cause her trouble.

When "Breeze" joins forces with Ritz Slosson, trouble-shooter for Police Commissioner Hoyt, to solve the Van Zandt murders and recover the Van Zandt jewels, he finds that Marjorie is in the thing up to her neck, and he determines to get her out.

The search for the stolen jewels carries "Breeze" and Slosson into New York's underworld of politics. The balance of the interesting novel deal with the two detectives battle to out-wit the gangsters.

The author spent considerable time studying the mobsters and knows the language of the underworld; an inimitable clipped slang, rich with the lore of urban slums and gutters.—C. M.

HUGE LANDSLIDE MENACES AREA IN LOS ANGELES

2,000,000-Ton Hillside Moves Toward Highway, Rail Yards Inch Every Day.

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—A 2,000,000-ton hillside, two blocks long and only a mile from the city hall, was creeping slowly across Elysian Park today, approaching a busy highway and railroad yards.

The movement showed signs of speeding up this morning and guards were standing at each end to sound an alarm in case the bluff should start tumbling down upon power lines, water pipes, the road and railway tracks.

Two geologists, employed by the city to investigate, said they could not suggest a theory for the phenomenon until after several days' study, but old settlers, who have heard stories of ancient tunnels where Spaniards buried their gold, were convinced that the slide was caused by subterranean cave-ins

City engineers have confirmed the presence of tunnels in the wooded park area, but they think they were part of an old aqueduct system.

Moves Inch a Day.

The landslide was imperceptible, at the rate of about an inch a day. The huge chunk of earth broke loose several days ago with a three-inch jerk and a widening gap has developed. The slide is 400 feet wide, about two blocks long. Already a water main feeding three reservoirs for downtown Los Angeles has been crushed. Water has been re-routed around the area. Towers of a major power line are expected to go next, and city officials have ordered an emergency line routed around the slide

Fifty feet below the creeping cliff is Riverside Drive, teeming wth traffic, a principal artery to Glendale and Pasadena. The Southern Pacific tracks are below the highway.

Engineers also feared that the slide might spill into the Los Angeles river bed, dam the coming winter torrents and cause a flood. Raymond A. Hill, geologist, and Dr. John Buwalda, of the California Institute of Technology, were making a study of the area for the city. They believed there was no way of stopping the slide.

Who Wants to Be Slave to a Pill Box?

Millions of people who used to be cathartic-slaves have found relief from common constipation—and from pills and purgatives, too! Keep regular as they do, with a NATURAL food laxative—Kellogg's All-Bran.

All-Bran is not habit-forming. It supplies TWO things your intestines need. First, it's a good source of vitamin "B₁"—the amazing vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract. Second, All-Bran provides "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination.

Kellogg's All-Bran is a crunchy, toasted cereal. Eat it with milk or cream and fruits. In muffins it's delicious. But however you eat it, use it REGULARLY: eat two tablespoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation and cathartics, too! Every grocer sells All-Bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

COST OF LIVING IN BRITAIN LOWER THAN U. S., SURVEY SHOWS

LONDON—(INS)—A survey shows that it costs ten dollars a week less to support a family of four in England than it does in America.

A country-wide poll by British news-magazine Cavalcade revealed the average Briton requires a considerably smaller income than the average American. Most of those interviewed estimate a family of four could live on $20 a week.

A recent poll in America set the figure at $30 a week.

People under 30 years of age found this question harder to answer than people over 30, and men found it more difficult than women in arriving at an estimate.

The lowness of the estimate is amazing in view of the tremendous taxation in Great Britain where, in direct and indirect taxation, the government takes $2.50 out of every $5.00 earned.

A wage earner must pay out $1.25 in income tax on every $5.00 earned, although a bachelor earning less than $650 a year is tax exempt. A married man is allowed $250 unassessable for a wife, the same amount for his first child and $125 for each of his other children.

Supporters of the Conservative party in power, interviewed in the poll, were inclined to show a more relenting attitude to the taxes imposed on them than did the Opposition supporters, and were inclined to ask a lower necessary income.

Two years ago the London and Cambridge Economic Service disclosed that three out of five wage-earners had an income of less than $650 a year, which was $400 a year less than those interviewed in the recent poll considered necessary for living.

CITY MUFFLES DRIVERS' HORNS

Southern Mayor's Anti-Noise Campaign Silences Streets With Court Fines.

JACKSON, Miss.—(U.P.)—Walter A. Scott, mayor for 21 years, hails eradication of automobile horn blowing and invites "all good citizens with jangled nerves from the blare of horns" to move here.

Scott attributed the success of the anti-noise campaign to a publicity and educational campaign before a city ordinance was passed nearly four months ago.

"Prior to that time, the main thoroughfares of the city were bedlams of noise emanating from motor vehicles," said the mayor, "either from horns or open mufflers.

Before the ordinance went into effect, wives would drive downtown and sound horns in an effort to attract the attention of husbands who might be on the 14th floor of an office building. It became such a nuisance and so nerve-wracking that people in the business district were unable at times to carry on a telephone conversation."

A minimum $1 fine to a maximum $25 for aggravated cases is levied on violators. Where formerly 20 to 25 persons were fined daily only two are arrested on the average, Scott reported.

CHAPTER HEADS SEE VICTORY AS ROLL CALL ENDS

6,000 Members Enrolled to Date; Confident of 9,000 When All Reports In.

With a membership of nearly 6,000 already reached, the Richland county chapter of the American Red Cross closed its annual 18th roll call yesterday, confident they will have enrolled 9,000 when the final report is completed the first of the week.

General Chairman W. J. Locke announced a total of 5,816 members amounting to $7,600 had been officially reported but that numerous scattered precincts throughout the county had not yet sent in their final reports. Included in these were Shelby, which is expected to report approximately 2,000 members.

Shelby chairman, Mrs. B. B. Brown, predicted today that the membership of 1,835, reported in the 1936 roll call, would be exceeded this year. However the final report will not be available until Dec. 6, she said.

County Division Chairman Harold D. Burns said that only half of the 17 townships had made their final reports, but all were expected in either today or tomorrow. He said that Plymouth had been added to the townships that had exceeded their total on their final report. The other two are Jackson and Franklin.

2 Industries to Report.

In the industrial division, Chairman Fred L. Tracy reported that all but two of the industries had made their final reports and that those two should be in today.

"When the final report is complete," Locke said, "we feel assured that the Richland county chapter will retain its standing as having the highest per capita membership of any other chapter in the state."

In the 1936 Roll Call, 8,270 memberships were recorded by the Richland county chapter.

Additional offices and concerns that have been added to the 100 per cent honor roll are: John Simpson Junior high school, Mansfield Structural and Erecting company, Leroy Parsons Insurance company, Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company, Rauch Drug store, Mansfield Lumber company, Farm Bureau, Brooks Apparel Shop, Liberty Shoe company, Vercoe and company, Woodland school, National Biscuit company office, Cleveland Grain and Milling company, National Cash Register company, Paige Dairy company, May Jewelry company, Weidner Motor Sales, Hartenfels filling station, Hedges Junior high school, Hedges grade school, Madison theater, Central Fruit company, Crawford Finance company, Kobacker's department store.

HITS LAXITY IN PRISON CONTROL

Commission Flays Supervision of Pen From Which 3 Fled.

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — The New York state correction commission reported today "a laxity in regulation and control" at the Onondaga county penitentiary at Jamesville, N. Y., where three convicted O'Connell kidnapers escaped Nov. 16.

"Members of the guard force interrogated were unanimous in stating that at no time had they received any instruction as to the searching or frisking of cells for contraband and that at no time had they made such examination," the commission said

The report was made after an investigation following the escape of John Oley, Percy (Angle Face) Geary and Harold (Red) Crowley, facing long federal prison terms for the 1933 kidnaping of John J. O'Connell, jr., of Albany. They were later captured.

HELD IN CITY'S FOURTH HOLD-UP

Former O. S. R. Inmate Caught 10 Minutes After Robbery of Gas Station.

squad car, were notified of the hold-up by radio. They were at the filling station within two minutes, obtained the details of the hold-up and were told by Beard that the bandit had started east on West Fourth street.

Near West Temple court and Pleasant street, about a half mile from the gas station, the officer saw a man walking, with his right hand in his pocket.

Boals brought the squad car alongside, and as he stopped, pulled his gun and ordered the man to put up his hands. Capt. Bell then searched the man, and found a gun and the money, he reported.

At the police station, the man said his name was Glen Lett, 27, of Chilton avenue. The police identification bureau found that he had been sentenced to the reformatory in 1931 for from one to 15 years on a charge of assault with intent to rob.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates, noting that the bandit ordered Beard to put the money in a paper sack, the same technique followed in the Iraly robbery Tuesday, said Lett would be questioned in connection with that hold-up.

One of the two Wednesday night hold-ups, staged in quick succession, took place within two blocks of the central police station.

At 50 Park avenue west, the gunmen held seven persons at bay, with orders to keep their hands down while they calmly looted two cash registers of $100 and bundled up 36 cartons of cigarets and their Thanksgiving dinner of two chickens and a duck.

Thirty minutes later, the pair coolly walked into another A. and P. store at 544 Springmill road, herded six persons into a rear room and robbed the store register of $41 and 25 cartons of cigarets.

Entering the Park avenue store, the bandits drew their snub-nosed blue steel revolvers and announced it was a "stickup" but that everybody should keep their hands down.

Fills Pockets With Candy.

Police were told that the younger of the pair stood by a candy case and munched candy and filled his pockets while he held four customers and the three clerks. Allan Baliet, Richard Coe and Roger Milks at the point of his gun.

The other robber scooped the contents of both cash registers into his pockets and then demanded that Baliet open the safe.

When Baliet informed him that the manager, Gerald Schleenbaker, was out and that he did not know the combination, he was threatened and given a jab in the ribs with the bandit's gun.

As the clerk continued to deny that he knew the combination, the bandit went to the back room and obtained a market basket. He then walked behind the meat counter and removed two dressed chickens and a duck from the meat case. In another basket he packed the cartons of cigarets.

As they left the store, the gunmen ran west on Park avenue and entered a dark sedan.

At the Springmill street store, the robbers entered the grocery and made their "stickup" announcement and then herded four customers and two clerks into a room in the rear and proceeded to rifle the cash register.

Fred Schnittke, manager, told police that the bandits removed $41 from the register and carried off 25 cartons of cigarets.

Schnittke's description of the bandits, police said, was almost identical with the descriptions given in the Park avenue hold-up.

At Bellville last night burglars broke into the Starrett Hardware store and carried off loot amounting to $76.

Deputy Sheriff Glenn Freeman who investigated said the glass in the front door had been broken and the nightlock unfastened by the burglar.

The loot he said included a radio, flashlights, watches and approximately $10 in change that was in the cash drawer.

JAPS SMASH AT CHINA'S MAIN DEFENSE LINES

Japanese Commander Predicts Speedy Collapse of Regime of Kai-Shek.

SHANGHAI —(AP)— Spearhead units of Japan's Shanghai armies tore into the heart of Chinese defenses today in a drive their commander-in-chief declared would force speedy collapse of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Sheck's regime.

Field officers sent back word to Japanese headquarters that their troops had crossed Lake Tai, the great natural barrier between Shanghai and Nanking, for a push against the virtually evacuated capital.

General Iwane Matsui, commander of Japanese forces, proclaimed in an interview with the apanese Shanghai United News that his armies might be forced to invade the interior far up the Yangtze from Nanking unless Chiang's government ends its resistance.

Hits Foreign Aid.

"Nanking must abandon its policy of depending upon European and American countries and European and American people must understand that their support of the Chinese policy never will contribute to security and peace in the Orient," he asserted.

The general added a prediction, however, that the Chinese regime would fall soon, bringing about "various troubles" which would be settled under Jpan's guidance. Chiang, he said, must be brought to terms.

In Nanking, Chiang appeared undaunted by the Japanese march up the Shanghai peninsula.

"China will resist to the last man," he said. "I am confident that right will overcome might."

Chinese officers said Japanese had been repulsed in their assaults on Kiangyin forts, northern terminus of the front, forcing the Japanese to change their strategy and prepare an attack from the north bank of the Yangtze.

Shanghai's acute food shortage, which yesterday sent mobs of hungry Chinese refugees to rice shops, was relieved today with the arrival of a rice-laden ship.

PARIS BOLSTERS POLICE GUARD FOR MINISTRY

Added Precautions Taken as Conspiracy Probe Takes on New Impetus.

PARIS—(AP)—The cordon of mobile guards which French authorities threw about the ministry of the interior with the unearthing of a gigantic conspiracy against the republic was strengthened today as a "precaution."

Troops were stationed inside the ministry courtyard and all gates to this important government building were barred.

The surete nationale, the national police organization through which the people's front government sought to trace and wreck the labyrinthian ramifications of the revolutionary organization, operates under the interior ministry.

Trucks, Autos Stopped.

Guards also were maintained on all arteries into the capital.

Every passing automobile and truck was stopped for examination of the papers of the operators and occupants.

More than 20 raids were made in provincial cities yesterday but the results of most of them were undisclosed.

Pierre Parent, a Rouen architect arested yesterday near Rouen, was brought to Paris under guard for inquiry into the source of a large store of arms siezed in his luxurious Paris home near the Invalides.

Eugene Deloncle, a 47-year-old engineering consultant described by surete agents as the founder and head of the "Csar"—"Le Comite Secret D'Action Revolutionaire"—spent last night in the surete headquarters, in a crossfire of questions.

He was arrested yesterday and immediately subjected to hours fo interrogation on the thwarted conspiracy to overthrow the Republican regime to make way for a royal dictatorship.

NEW SYSTEM

Ashland Considers Records on Relief Cases.

ASHLAND—The establishment of a social service index by the heads of the various leaders of relief agencies will be considered at a meeting to be held Dec. 2, according to an announcement by the board of public assistance.

The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the court at 2 p. m. on Thursday.

The index would provide for a constant record of amounts given in relief for the needy by the various agencies, and for the elimination of duplicating among the various agencies.

In this connection, the board of public assistance has offered to provide for clerical help, and filing facilities.

Christian Fruitfullness

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Nov. 28 is John 15:1-16, the Golden Text being verse 8, "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; and so shall ye be my disciples.")

OUR LORD continually placed the emphasis of his teaching on life; on work rather than word; doing rather than hearing; being rather than seeming. He closed his Sermon on the Mount by demanding that his hearers translate his sayings with life; failure to do this he likened to building one's house upon the sand. In his cursing of the barren fig tree he showed his indignation against a nation characterized by pretense and barren of fruit. In his parable of the four kinds of soil he judged them according to their fruitfulness. His severest judgments fell upon those who called him "Lord, Lord, and did not the things which he commanded." "Inasmuch as ye did it, or did it not, to one of the least of these ye did it or did it not to me." Thus, continually, he is expecting his precept and example to result in fruit in the lives of his disciples.

Vine and Branches.

"I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman. Every branch in me that beareth not fruit, he taketh it away and every branch that beareth bruit, he cleanseth it, that it may bear more fruit." We are not only to be good; we are to be good for something! Failing in this, we fail even to be good in his sight. The branches may not receive strength from the vine unless they transform that strength into fruit to gratify the husbandman. If there is no fruit it is the fault not of the vine, but of the branches, for in this case the vine is good. "I am the vine, ye are the branches; he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same beareth much fruit: for apart from me ye can do nothing." Our fruitfulness, therefore, is conditioned upon our attachment to and union with Christ, or upon our faith in and love for Christ as the source of our life in the beginning, the continual supply of our strength and the energizer of our works and perfecter of our characters "Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; so neither can ye, except ye abide in me."

Fruits of Prayer.

Our abiding in Christ is not that of a static attachment, but one of communion in the fellowship of prayer: "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatever ye will, and it shall be done unto you." The prayer life is the fruitful life. It is also the joyful life: "These things have I spoken with you, that my joy may be made full." This joy is the joy of the fullest possible fellowship in divine love: "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends if ye do the things which I command you. No longer do I call you servants; . . . but I have called you friends; for all things that I heard from my Father I have made known unto you." He was not speaking figuratively, for within a few hours he actually laid down his life for them and for us. So what? "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit, and so shall ye be my disciples." He has no use for an ornamental discipleship.

STUDIES APPEAL

Supreme Court Weighs Case Against Former Editor.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Ohio supreme court has taken under advisement a proposal that it review a district appeals court's dismissal of contempt charges against Walter Morrow, former editor of the Akron Times-Press.

Morrow was found guilty in common pleas court on the ground that his paper published the names of Summit county grand jurors in violation of orders by Judge Walter B. Wanamaker. The appeals court dismissed the case, however.

The supreme court heard brief arguments Wednesday by Robert I Azar, assistant prosecutor of Summit county, on his motion to certify the appeal's court's record for a review. It then informed defense counsel they would not have to make arguments.

Morrow's newspaper work took him outside the state after the test case developed.

SEES ACTION ON ANTI-TRUST LAW

Borah Predicts Congress Will Consider New Legislation; Blasts Monopolies.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The administration's proposed anti-trust legislation will get prompt action by congress, Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida., has predicted.

Contending that the real basis for recovery is the "destruction of monopoly," Borah said he had "some very definite ideas on the subject," shortly after Attorney General Homer S. Cummings announced a virtual "trust-busting" drive.

"So long as a few corporations can fix the prices of everything the people have to buy, we are bound to suffer economically," Borah said. "I agree with the attorney general that an anti-trust law is of the highest importance.

"I don't know what the attorney general will propose to congress but whatever it is we will get action on it in a very reasonable time."

Borah has pending a bill which "radically changes" the anti-trust laws. He explained that it would provide that monopolistic corporations operating in interstate commerce take out federal licenses to give the government leverage to regulate them.

Cummings said he had asked Budget Director Daniel A. Bell to increase the appropriation for the anti-trust division from $472,000 per year to approximately $1,500,000.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Allen C. Roudebush, Democrat, present mayor of Norwood, has been appointed judge of the Hamilton county common pleas court by Governor Davey. The appointment is effective Dec 1. He fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Robert N. Gorman, Cincinnati, recently appointed to the Ohio supreme court by the governor, and will serve until the Nov, 1938, election.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1937.

Mistakes are excusable—but it's tough when they affect a hundred and twenty-five million people.

Instead of entering politics, Charlie McCarthy decided on a radio career, in which the competition is not so keen.

"Tobacco Road" has been banned from New Orleans until the dialog has been cleaned up—which would make it an entirely different road.

Dividing the Food Dollar.

THE farmer's share in the consumer's food dollar this year is forty-six cents, only one cent less than his share in the 1929 food dollar. The other fifty-four cents are distributed among processors, wholesalers, transportation lines and retailers.

This may be a just and economically sound division, or it may not. The consumer, as a rule, doesn't know about that and isn't much interested. He is always hoping to get more for his food dollar tomorrow than he does today or did yesterday. The profits or losses of those who prepare that food, from plowing the ground to delivering the groceries at the back door, are not his worry.

We may not get our economic problems properly solved this side of Utopia; but if we do, it will be partly because the important food dollar, with the costs and profits and values it represents, is fairly and wisely divided in the best interests of all concerned.

Mexican Birthday.

ON NOVEMBER 20 Mexico celebrated the twenty-seventh anniversary of its "revolution-made government." It was on that date in 1910 that the uprising began which ended the dictatorship of Porfirio Diaz, Mexican president for 30 years. The occasion was observed by closing banks and business houses, by public speeches and the assembling in Mexico City of thousands of workers and peasants.

The intervening 27 years have not been all free from political turmoil, but presidents have assumed office after legal election and have yielded to their successors without the violent difficulties North Americans have come to expect south of the Rio Grande.

Lately things have moved even more smoothly, with many steps taken in social advancement—education, employment, and so on. The government's harsh attitude toward the church has been modified. There has been an improvement in foreign relations, particularly in good feeling between Mexico and the United States, but also in growing good will between Mexico and its southern neighbors.

Many problems remain unsolved, such as the seizure of large foreign holdings in Mexico, for which payment has been promised but has not been started. On the whole, however, conditions in Mexico are such as to justify a birthday party.

Blame Rests On Drivers.

FEW people have an adequate idea of the amazing progress of the past few years in making modern automobiles mechanically safe. Inventors and engineers have gone all the way from major improvements in brakes and bodies, to relatively minor safety additions such as elimination of projections on instrument boards.

Similar progress has taken place in highway design. Nonskid surfaces have been applied, curves made into straightaways, hills flattened, and turns banked with slide-rule accuracy. And what are the results of all this expenditure of time, money and ingenuity? A soaring accident record, and a death toll that approaches the 40,000 mark annually.

The motorist can't pass the buck. Individual carelessness, individual incompetence, individual ignorance—these are the prime causes of accidents. The most withering commentary that can be made on driving habits is the fact that the great bulk of fatal accidents occur on good modern roads, under favorable weather conditions, and involve cars in excellent mechanical condition. The proportion of accidents that are honestly caused by mechanical failure of vehicles or bad road conditions, is miscroscopic.

American Cooking Best In World.

PARIS loses another honor to New York City. Our own metropolis is now the culinary capital of the world. That is the judgment of 45 members of the Society of Gourmets who met there the other evening to partake of an elaborate meal and to share each other's genial presence and sparkling conversation.

First came the statement of the society's president that "with the passing of Foyot's in Paris and other great restaurants there, I do not think it is any longer disputable that New York offers both the highest standards and the greatest variety of dining delight and culinary skill to be found in any city in the world."

The points weighed in appraising culinary supremacy include variety of foods as well as their preparation and serving. The gourmets seem to be sincere about all this. More and more American dishes occur on their menus. And that is to their own advantage. If we only realized it, American-grown foods and American cooking have charms unexcelled in any other part of the world.

Saving for Spending.

BANKS that handle Christmas Club funds are getting ready for the annual distribution of checks to savers. This year there are 4,500 such banks. They have $320,000,000 to distribute to the 6,600,000 members of Christmas savings clubs.

An analysis of the use of Christmas Club funds in other years indicates that this year's $320,000,000 will be spent as follows: 42 per cent for Christmas purchases, 25 per cent for permanent saving, 12 per cent for taxes, 8 per cent for year-end commitments, 6 per cent for mortgage interest, 5 per cent for insurance premiums, and 2 per cent for travel and charity.

Christmas Clubs have demonstrated to many people the value of small, regular saving to meet a specific need or to prepare for an emergency. That lesson should not be forgotten.

"WILL I BE OUT OF THIS TRENCH BY CHRISTMAS?"

South Americans Fundamentally Democratic

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—The state department is not very fearful that President Vargas' establishment of a virtual dictatorship in Brazil foreshadows a Latin American trend toward a tieup with Italian Fascism and German Nazi-ism.

There are Washington commentators who remark that our state department knows so little of Latin America as to make its opinions of doubtful value.

That this country, by and large, is as ignorant as a horse of the southern American republics there is little doubt. With a long residence on that side of the equator behind me, and with a daughter and a granddaughter born there, it makes me laugh to hear some of our officialdom discuss affairs in that part of the western hemisphere. But I have to laugh at the comment by most of the critics of our officialdom, too. Most of the critics are as ignorant as their criticize-ees.

* * *

FUNDAMENTALLY DEMOCRATIC

Latin America does incline a bit toward dictatorships. It did so long before Fascism and Nazi-ism ever were thought of. Latin America's kind are dictatorships which come and go. Between the dictatorships het southern republics have spells of democracy. Their traditions are democratic, in fact.

Simon Bolivar (pronounce it "Si-moan," with the accent on the last syllable, "Bo-lee-var," with the accent on the second syllable), the famed South American liberator, was one of history's greatest democrats—a hero from the Rio Grande to Cape Horn. Any Southern American dictatorship trembles at the mention of his name. George Washington "has nothing" on him comparatively.

Democracy, in short, is basic, at least south of the Isthmus of Panama.

When I lived in the Argentine, I was tempted to adopt Argentine citizenship, on the ground that Argentine democracy was truer than our own. It would have been a mistake. Argentina has had a dictatorial period since then, but now it is getting back to democracy.

They are a volatile bunch—the South Americans.

But fundamentally genuine democrats.

EUROPE'S MONEY

In early days South America was economically more dependent upon Europe than upon North America.

Europe had capital for development purposes.

We needed it, up north, and got most of it. But South America got some. We northerners hadn't any to spare—indeed, hadn't enough of our own.

Thus Europe horned in on Latin America, to our exclusion.

That European advantage has continued ever since.

* * *

CHANGED POSITIONS

Today we, the North Americans, are the capitalists.

The Europeans, "flat broke," have "shot their wad."

Yet England, France and Germany do have a record of past accomplishments. South America has not quite assimilated the idea yet that we are its background—not the old world.

In the meantime we have been "sassy" and overbearing toward our new world neighbors.

UNTIL LATELY!

Today we are friendly—and they reciprocate.

* * *

"VARGAS NOT BASIC"

The essential reason is that they know Europe cannot help them economically any longer.

We can.

Naturally they turn our way.

It is a safe bet that no South American republic (like Brazil) will hook up with a bankrupt country, such as Germany or Italy, against the United States.

It doesn't make sense.

The state department may not understand it very well.

Nevertheless, a cuckoo dictator, such as Vargas, while he may make considerable trouble, is not basic. He cannot last long locally.

Listen, World!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON—

Should You Teach Your Girl to Be a Loafer and a Liar?

HOW CIVILIZED IS THE AVERAGE MODERN WOMAN IN HER ATTITUDE TOWARD MEN?

HOW MUCH FAITH DOES SHE BRING TO HER MARRIAGE . . . HOW MUCH FAIR PLAY DOES SHE GIVE OR EXPECT?

You'd be surprised!

Recently we asked a question. Said—"Suppose you had a daughter—wished her to become a happy wife and mother—how would you train her?

"To be an efficient business worker . . . or an athletic outdoor girl . . . independent, in either case . . . a frank and fair partner—

"OR TO BE A LOAFER AND A LIAR, A TRICKSTER AND A CHEAT?"

Amazing questions to publish in a 20th century column? Yes! You'd expect—wouldn't you?—that every reader would greet them with scorn and derision. But you'd be wrong.

For millions of modern women not only believe in Trickster Training for their daughters, but teach it and practice it themselves with their own husbands!

Not stupid hussies, mind you. Not lazy, mean-minded parasites. But seemingly enlightened and intelligent females—capable housewives and mothers, serious citizens—such as Hulda Neslurd of Melrose Park, Ill., who writes the following letter

"Dear Elsie Robinson—

"I read your letter about training young girls . . . As an ex-woman athlete, and the mother of several sons but no daughters, here's my answer.

"In spite of my own independent training, if I wished to have my daughter make a happy marriage, I'd teach her to flatter and simper and be wise to all the tricks—demanding everything, giving as little as possible in return.

"THE GIRL WITH A SERIOUS INTEREST—EITHER SPORTS OR BUSINESS—IS HEALTHIER, CLEANER, MORE INDEPENDENT AND SELF-RESPECTING THAN THE PROTECTED GIRL AND MUCH MORE HONEST WITH AND USEFUL TO A MAN.

"BUT HEAVEN HELP HER IF SHE TRIES TO BE FRANK AND FAIR IN MARRIAGE! HER HUSBAND WILL TAKE ALL HER FINENESS FOR GRANTED. THEN THE FIRST TIME SHE CRITICIZES HIM . . . OR EXPOSES THE FACT THAT SHE IS HIS EQUAL . . . HE WILL GO OFF WITH SOME USELESS LITTLE FLUFF WHO "UNDERSTANDS" HIM."

HULDA NESLURD.

A dreadful letter and a pitiful one—yet that's how the average woman feels about Men . . . teaches her daughter to feel about them. Thousands of such letters come to this desk. Daily, over our national back fences, air shafts and 'phones, the same message goes . . . Susy Spilling the Dirt to Daisy . . . Rosie Chewing the Fat with Flossie . . . Sister warning Sister that—

ALL MEN ARE MONSTERS, AND A GAL MUST OUTSMART THEM . . . OR ELSE!

Here we are in the year 1937 with co-education, equal rights in industry and politics. Never had women known such privileges and power. Then why aren't they happier, more content? Why have we more broken homes than ever before?

Because this false and filthy sex-suspicion . . . hang-over of our savage days . . . still goes on. It flourishes in the pent-house and basement, trailer and mansion alike.

AMERICA MAY BOAST OF ITS WEALTH, WISDOM AND AUTHORITY, BUT AS A NATION WE WILL NEVER BE CIVILIZED UNTIL OUR MEN AND WOMEN DARE TO PUT JUNGLE SUPERSTITION BEHIND THEM . . . AND SUBSTITUTE FAITH AND FAIR PLAY FOR FLATTERY AND SHIFTY SHINNANIGANS.

As Others See It

Today's Thought.

We would have fewer wars if the men who make the speeches had to do the fighting.—Kansas City Times.

The Morning After.

When he got a glimpse of the bride, the groom in an Indiana gin wedding hurried to the courthouse. Divorce at first sight is quite modern.—Detroit News.

Timely Editorial

Put Him on Right Track.

There is a lot of talk these days about youthful criminals. A large percentage of those who are making the trouble for the police are youngsters. Too often the fact is overlooked that a great deal of the fault of young people is due to the faults of older people. Every boy was once a potential good boy. If he had been cared for and treated properly he might have turned his energy to worth while activities.

This year there are celebrations in many places honoring Horace Mann, called the "Father of Public School Education." When Horace Mann was a poor boy on a New England farm, the neighborhood was poor; it had no regular school, but traveling schoolmasters came occasionally to the neighborhood for a few weeks. One of these one day said to the boy, Horace, "You must go to college." The boy answered, "How can I go to college?" The suggestion seemed preposterous. The schoolmaster said, "You will find a way."

A kindly word of encouragement costs little. It may be the inspiration of a lifetime of usefulness.—Detroit News.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL—

Mrs. Roosevelt's Life Story.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S book—"This Is My Story"—is out. I read much of it last summer, when it was running serially. I do not know when I have read a more enjoyable or candid or honest, yet heart-warming story of family life, or of a girl growing into womanhood.

Mrs. Roosevelt will live in history as an exceptional woman. She not only is one of the real democrats—small "d"—of the age, but she has a remarkably penetrating and understanding mind, and a warmth that suffuses even the worst stuffed shirt and snob-dealing socialite.

A photographer who "catches" the biggest personalities came to me the other day after snapping Mrs. Roosevelt on the run and exclaimed: "There's a REAL woman!" Could there be a higher compliment?

* * *

SHAKESPEARE

A man close to President Roosevelt quoted two lines of Shakespeare to him anent his recent toothache. And, quick as a flash, the president quoted two more lines from the same scene.

One doubts whether even the late President Wilson could have done that.

It is queer—yet not queer—that Shakespeare is so alive today.

In New York there is an argument over a presentation of "Julius Caesar" there. Some say that the director has so inclined the play as to make it seem to favor fascism. Now there is a torrent of argument to prove that Shakespeare actually was against all dictators.

As a matter of fact, Shakespeare presented character, not causes. And in the development of character men did become dictators and anti-dictators. Shakespeare wrote of the world as it is, of the drama and tragedy of life. And he wrote of men who made history, whether unwisely or wisely. Naturally, among them were dictators, of the worst sort.

* * *

RICHARD II

If Maurice Evans in "King Richard II" comes near your city or to your city, you owe it to yourself to see this magnificent portrayal.

Here you will see Shakespeare acted as seldom seen during an entire century. Here you will see a vital, vibrant play that holds one on the edge of his seat, colorfully, beautifully produced. And the words, so pregnant with meaning, are a symphony of thought, full of music, full of wisdom, full of life.

One wonders that such a man ever existed as the Bard. Here is one of his lesser known plays, yet it is ageless, magnificent, greater than any that man since has written.

And to Maurice Evans, the English actor, who was a bookkeeper, one can give unstinted praise. History of 550 years ago lives today as he and his excellent support trod a stage that seems a mirror of the present.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

How To Raise Real Wages.

By HARLEY L. LUTZ
Professor of Pubilc Finance, Princeton University.

To answer the question of how to increase the wage incomes of the lowest income groups, we must go back to first principles and ask how wages in general are determined. The wage or salary of any worker depends on his usefulness, or efficiency, in production.

Efficient workers can command high wages, but inefficient workers must accept low wages for the simple reason that the value of what they can contribute is small.

When we add to high efficiency a substantial capital and capable management, we get the result of good wages with low unit prices for the product, which would represent the ideal condition for a high level of real incomes.

For example, John L. Lewis is an efficient labor leader and he doubtless receives a good salary, because there are not many other men in the mines or at the factory benches who can do what he has done. His salary, like that of any other "executive," is based on the value of his services to the organization he directs. Value, in this sense, means what someone thinks a thing is worth, as shown by what he is willing to pay for it.

Now, suppose we were to shut our eyes and pick at random a man from the mines or the automobile factories and propose to pay him what Mr. Lewis or Mr. Knudson is getting, for the kind of work that this miner or mechanic is now doing. Both Mr. Lewis and Mr. Knudsen would object strenuously, and somewhere in their complaint we would learn that this fellow's services could not possibly be worth that much to the CIO, or General Motors, respectively.

Yet this illustrates exactly what is proposed by Mr. Lewis and the president and all of those who want to raise wages by legislative decree. They propose to pick out whole battalions and regiments of workers and raise their wages without regard to the value of their services in production.

Since the whole mass of goods produced must be apportioned among those who produce these goods, an arbitrary increase of certain shares regardless of productive capacity means an equally arbitrary reduction of other shares without regard to capacity. Whether the purchasing power of one group be thus arbitrarily increased by decree, by public bounty or by labor union "squeeze," the beneficiaries are favored in buying goods over those whose incomes are more rationally determined.

The group that wants wage increase by governmental decree fondly hopes that profits will be the only share reduced in the process, and this, they believe, will be "no skin off their backs." No social realist believes that the total volume of profits is sufficient to meet this strain, any more than he believes that an equalization of all incomes would materially improve the economic status of those at the bottom of the income scale.

There are just two steps to be taken if we really want to increase the smallest incomes. First, we must produce much more than at present, to make possibe universal enlargement of real incomes. Second, we must increase the relative earning capacity of those at the bottom. As a nation we are able to do both of these things if we really want them done. But there is no prospect of accomplishing either by the kind of political and governmental action now proposed. Government can help, if those who are most concerned are willing to accept the kind of aid that may reasonably be expected from this source.

When we consider traditional labor policies and theories, we find them opposed to both of these essential steps. Limitation of output and restriction on apprenticeship have long been cardinal features of labor policy. Jurisdictional and sympathetic strikes are as destructive as any other kind of warfare. The closed union is as undemocratic as a capitalistic conspiracy in restraint of trade.

Some employers and some labor leaders have displayed keen insight into this problem, but there are other cases of extraordinary stupidity on both sides. Unfortunately, the men with greatest insight seldom command as much public attention as the other sort.

ALL of US

—By MARSHALL MASLIN

I Hit a Dog.

I CAME to a stop at a street intersection and then slowly turned the corner. . . . And as I drove along I felt something hit the car and at the same instant I saw a woman in the light of a street lamp lift her hands to her face in a gesture of horror . . . I looked back and saw a little white bundle on the car track . . . I had hit somebody's dog.

By the time I parked my car and went back the owner of the dog was sitting in the entrance to an apartment house and holding his small pet in his arms. She was horribly quiet, making no sound, but unable to stand and badly injured. She was a little wire-haired terrier. Frightened by a much larger dog she had darted into the street and under my wheels . . . They didn't blame me . . . We took her to veterinarian and left her for the night. He wasn't too encouraging: he said she was probably suffering from a brain lesion and such injuries were always doubtful.

And as I write I do not know whether that little beloved animal is alive or dead. I am cowardly about it and do not dare to telephone. . . . They told me they didn't blame me. They insisted, kindly, that it wasn't my fault at all. It was just one of those things. But I can't get that puppy out of my mind. I find myself trying to reconstruct the past, trying vainly to evade the fact of that instant.

If I had gone one block further before turning—if I had started from home one minute sooner, or later—if I had been going faster, or slower—if I had not gone on that errand at all—if they had kept a leash on their little friend—if that other, bigger dog had not been there—if any one of a thousand possibilities had only existed—that little dog Ginger would be well and joyful this instant, would not have run beneath my car, her master and mistress would not be suffering. I would not be sitting here, speculating so vainly, with such regret.

These thoughts, these "ifs," are futile I know. And I should push them out of my mind and try to forget them . . . But there is nothing I can do. The fact remains and will not go away—I hit a little dog and the memory of that moment will never quite leave me. There will always be that little hurt somewhere in the back of my memory.

Most unaffected of professional entertainers: Eddie Peabody, the banjoist. Gertrude Lawrence looks aquiver to go places and do things. Study in austerity: Judge Samuel Seabury. Harlem's fashion plate, Duke Ellington. And is he a dude! Ditto Simms Campbell, the artist.

Title for a magazine piece about the loose-wristed boys who swish about the restaurants—Capons of the Cafes. The Rialto's No. 1 yarn spinner—John Golden. Kay Brush and her Sealyham. And it's about time for her to be turning in another novel. So it is.

Look-alikes: Ruby Keeler and Mrs. George Vanderbilt. Suggestion: Grover Whalen's waxed mustache under glass for one of the world's fair museums. Any magazine piece by Paul Gallico immediately gets my attention. Somehow I expect folks from Gloucester to wear oilskin slickers.

Dean Cornwell in riding pants would make a swell "Aha, my proud beauty" stage villain of the old days. Jack Powell, who literally beat his way around the world with a couple of drum sticks. Be fun to walk behind the monocled Jules Bache and Achmed Abdullah and drop watch crystals.

A runner-up for the late William Gillette's train mania is Lucius Beebe, gazetteer from Back Bay and thoroughgoing city slicker. The actor Gillette, as almost everybody knows, had a complete miniature railroad encircling his vast Connecticut acres. Trains have been Beebe's secret hobby since romper days. Today when he has an afternoon off he goes to Coney to ride the toy choo-choos or take a commutation trip to some near-by Suburbia. Frequently he has entrained to Hollywood just for the ride. Some weeks ago a publisher articled him for a book on railroads and locomotives and he spent three weeks prowling the roundhouses, yards and terminals in various parts of the country. As precautionary measure, Harry Staton declares Beebe's bootmaker fashioned a pair of modish gaiters so he could escape if he caught a foot in the switches.

Sport writers are the only scribblers who can guess wrong most the time and not lose face. Particularly have their forecasts been cock-eyed in championship fights. So much so, shrewd Broadway gamblers list the summations and bet the other way. Schmeling was to be a pushover for Joe Louis and Tommy Farr couldn't survive three rounds with the same fighter. Max Baer was hailed as the great invincible champion. So goes a hefty list of wrong 'uns. The sports writers saving grace has been their ability to kid themselves and never offer alibi. Almost everybody warms to those who admit they are wrong. Also, no branch of sports is so susceptible to laws of upset as boxing.

Students of men's style say the most perfectly groomed oldster in America is General John Pershing. In uniform, business suit or evening dress. He is costumed sedately, but when he appears on the street even those who may not recognize his face would turn to glance at the magnificent figure. His physique is the delight of tailors. Col. Jacob Ruppert is also a fashion plate among the elders. And there's the octogenarian dude, Col. Creighton Webb.

In my occasional peeks at the Brummels this winter, I find little style change from last. Some of the forward stylists are sporting the Noel Coward sleeve, a sort of puff effect around the armpits—and pretty terrible if you ask me. Those exaggerations are all right, perhaps, backed by an Olympian smile, but for the run-of-the-mine duffers they are not so Bond street. Plain colored suits, dark gray, blue and brown, seem the mode, relieved by, well anything goes—loud shirts, ties, and handkerchiefs.

From an etiquette column: "Question—In the bath of a strange house where I was a house guest someone innocently started to open the door. I began to scream. What should I have done?"

My answer would be either that or start making soapsuds.

NEW NOVEL ON NAPOLEON TOPS LIBRARY LIST

Author Pictures Glory, Power of His Empire In Historical Sketch, 'So Great a Man.'

A historical novel which pictures the glory of Napoleon's empire, with all its power and intrigue tops the Mansfield Public Library's new booklist this week.

"So Great A Man" abounds in romance, adventure and mystery and was written by David Pilgrim.

It depicts the adventures of young Felix Marbot, a man summoned by the Emperor to escort the beautiful Madame Walewska, Napoleon's mistress, to Paris.

Traces Boers Journey.

In another book, "Turning Wheels," by Stuart Cloete, the author traces the journey of the Boers eastward and northward from the English Cape Colony to settlements of their own in South Africa, during the years 1834-48.

"Enchanter's Nightshade," by Ann Bridge, is a delightful novel of family life in Italy in the summer of 1905. The intrigues of the various members of the Vill'Alta Clan fill the reader with respect for the doughty old Marchesa, the grandmother nearly 100 years old, who saw everything.

Other fiction on the list include. "Death Stops the Rehearsal," by Baker; "None Shall Look Back," by Gordon; "Victoria Four-Thirty," by Roberts, and "Carmen of the Rancho," by Spearman.

Non-fiction books are: "Sod and Stubble," by Dr. John Ise; "South to Samarkand," by Ethel Mannin; "Like Softest Music," by Rose Heylbut; "Saviors of Mankind," by Van Buskirk; "Everyday Science," by Haslett; "Astronomy for the Millions," by Bergh; "Leaves: Their Place in Life and Legend," by Quinn; "Merry Mixer Cook Book," by Robertson, "Story of the Carol," by Duncan; "Craft of the Critic," by Smith; "Joyce Kilmer's Anthology of Catholic Poets:" "Edgar Allan Poe," by Shanks; "Hudson River Landings," by Wilstach; "Carols, Customs and Costumes Around the World," comp. by Wernecke, "Christmas Songs," comp. by Wernecke; "Picturesque Songs and Costumes Around the World" comp. by Stanovsky & Wernecke; "Early Ohio Taverns," by Knittle (Ohio Frontier Series, 1767-1847, No. 1.)

QUEZON CALLS FOR 50 MILLION SOCIAL OUTLAY

Excise Tax Cash Available to Start Program For 'Submerged Third.'

MANILA—(U.P.)—The Philippines Commonwealth celebrated its second birthday anniversary with a pocket full of extra cash and clear-cut ideas about how to spend it.

The cash—about $50,000,000—came from the U. S. Treasury in Washington, and represents accumulated excise tax collections on coconut oil sold to the United States, while American courts were deciding whether the tax was constitutional It is about equal to the total annual budget of the Philippines government.

The ideas for spending the sum came from President Manuel L Quezon, who sees more than one-third of the population ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed.

Sugar Levy to Start

Still more revenue is in sight. The coconut oil tax still is being collected for refund to the Commonwealth and a similar levy on sugar exports to the United States is to be collected beginning next year.

But for the present the National Assembly is concentrating on putting the $50,000,000 where it will pay dividends in better conditions for poor folk whose lot has improved less than might be expected in 35 years of American administration.

The assembly is working along "social justice" lines outlined by President Quezon, whose recommendations rarely meet more than 10 per cent opposition in the legislative body.

Six Point Program

His principle recommendations were:

1. Improvement of rural sanitation, construction of new sanitariums and leprosariums, and extension of free medical dispensary service to the poor.

2. Construction of more schools to meet an annual problem in which thousands of children are unable to receive instruction.

3. Road building.

4. Purchase of large landed estates for resale to tenants, many of whom are victims of astonishing usury and other malpractices

5. Development of Mindanao, the richest and least developed of the Philippine Islands.

6. Financing of a "long range program of economic adjustments necessary to prepare the country for the new situation attending the grant of our independence. . ."
